This is the only color change option available to vote on which-- I feel strongly monochrome stark would be a serious set back to the design appeal or our villas-In my view this stark white conflicts with the current brown pallet and if total development is painted white .. it wouldbe regrettable and when owners see they will realize a serious expensive mistake was made—

This decision must be made with caution as the paint color(s) will significantly impact the visual appearance of 43 Villas being approximately $43 million dollars in property value. — Ambrose
